

This year, through a campaign called Operation Christmas Child, run by the UK charity Samaritan's Purse, this school is joining with thousands of other schools up and down the country in wrapping, packing and sending shoeboxes full of gifts – things like cuddly toys, games, balls, hats, gloves and scarves, stationery and hygiene items – to children in need around the world. I am enclosing more information about this campaign and how to take part, for your information.

Through this campaign, we want to teach children here about generosity for others, and compassion, to make them aware of the fact that there are children elsewhere in the world who have nothing, and give them the opportunity to do something practical, yet so simple, that can make such a difference.

Samaritan's Purse also wants to be clear about how they work:

'We're a Christian charity so it's our Christian beliefs that motivate us to help those in need. The shoebox gifts are distributed through local churches overseas who may invite children to join a discipleship course called The Greatest Journey. Participation is with the consent of parents or guardians and shoeboxes are given unconditionally to children based on need, regardless of background or religious beliefs.'

'We hope that explaining these things will encourage you and your family to get involved. Each year, hundreds of thousands of people in this country, adults and children alike, regardless of whether they share our beliefs or not, join with Operation Christmas Child to express their compassion for those less fortunate than themselves, by giving an unconditional gift of love, at Christmas time.'

So please help us reach another 11 million children globally with a shoebox gift that tells them that they are loved, and not forgotten this Christmas!"
